DEPARTMENT OF MODERN LANGUAGES, LITERATURES AND CULTURES

The Department of Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures offers a major in Spanish Language and Cultures and minors in Italian and Spanish. Students can also explore a treasure trove of other languages at the introductory (and, in some cases, through to the intermediate) level in American Sign Language, Arabic, Chinese, French, German, Hebrew, Japanese and Polish.

The study of modern languages, along with the literatures and cultures associated with them, is valuable both personally and professionally. Students develop effective communication skills as well as cultural critical thinking and knowledge commensurate with the level of study achieved. In this way, the Department of Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures importantly contributes to the educational foundation for a changing world of diverse cultures and people.

Language Placement

Students who continue the study of a modern language begun prior to college must take a placement exam to be placed at the course level for which they qualify. For more information please visit cas360.qu.edu/ (https://cas360.qu.edu/) and search for “Language Placement Exam.”

Study Away

Study away is encouraged for all students, especially those majoring in Spanish or minoring in Italian or Spanish. Quinnipiac facilitates wonderful opportunities for study away and accepts relevant credit from colleges and universities abroad. Please visit the Study Abroad page (http://catalog.qu.edu/academics/study-abroad/) for additional information.

The mission of the Department of Modern Languages, Literatures and Cultures is to help students develop effective communication skills and cultural critical thinking and knowledge in their chosen language of study. Students thus build a strong educational foundation to thrive as global citizens whose minds are opened to new ways of thinking, communicating and perceiving the world in all of its rich multidimensionality.
