

TAX LAW

Tax attorneys work to ensure that clients understand the tax implications of business and personal transactions, maximizing tax savings in a manner that is ethical and complies with the tax laws. The knowledge you'll gain and skill sets you'll develop in our program will make you an invaluable resource, not only to law firms but to government agencies, accounting firms and businesses of all types. You'll study the structure of the current income tax system and become familiar with statutes, regulations, case law and legislative history, and apply them to tax planning and tax controversies. You'll also consider the importance of tax policy and ethics.

While studying the nuances of tax law, you can put your skills into practice in our Tax Clinic – the oldest continuously operating clinic of its kind in the country – or through an externship with a judge, tax attorney or the Internal Revenue Service, or by assisting community residents with income tax preparation through our Tax Law Society's Volunteer Income Tax Assistance program.

Tax Law Concentration Requirements

To receive the certificate for this concentration, you must earn 21 tax law-related credits (consisting of 18 credits in tax course work and 3 credits of clinical/externship work) and meet all of the other concentration requirements. In addition, you must take Federal Income Tax (LAWS 305) as one of your core electives. Credits for LAWS 305 do not count toward the 21-credit concentration requirement, but the grade in this prerequisite does count toward the GPA requirement for honors.

1. Required Course Work

In addition to Federal Income Tax (LAWS 305) (credits for which do not count toward the 21-credit requirement), you must take at least 18 credits from the following lists of courses, all of which count toward the 21-credit requirement for the concentration.

2. Clinical Requirement

At least 3 credits must be earned through participation in the Tax Clinic and/or externship placement approved by the concentration director. No more than 3 credits count toward the 21-credit requirement for the concentration, except with permission of the concentration director in consultation with the director of the clinic or externship. The director of the clinic may waive IRC as a requirement for the Tax Clinic.

If a student does enroll in IRC, credits for it will not count toward the clinical requirement. If a student meets this requirement through an externship placement, the seminar portion of the externship does not count toward the 3 required clinical credits. If a student meets this requirement through the Tax Clinic, 1 credit of the seminar portion of the externship counts toward the 3 required clinical credits.

The concentration director may waive the clinical requirement if the student has substantial tax law work experience. If the concentration director waives the clinical requirement, the student must earn additional credits in tax courses (or any related courses specifically allowed by the concentration director) to qualify for the concentration.

3. Writing Requirement

A student must write a substantial paper – or a series of shorter writings that together comprise a substantial amount of written work – on a topic or topics related to tax. (If a student writes a substantial paper, the student may use that paper to satisfy the law school's advanced writing requirement, provided that the paper meets the guidelines set forth in the Academic Regulations (<http://catalog.qu.edu/school-of-law/academic-regulations/#text>), section I.D.) The concentration director must approve the topic or topics for the written work used to satisfy this requirement. A paper written for a journal may qualify, if the concentration director approves the topic.

4. Honors

Students who achieve a GPA of 3.2 or better in the course work used for the concentration will receive the certificate for the concentration with honors. A student may designate any course or paper as not counting toward the concentration, so long as it is not specifically required for the concentration, and the student meets the concentration requirements with another course or paper.

5. Waiver

The concentration director and the associate dean for academic affairs may waive any requirements for the concentration (other than the GPA requirement), if they both agree to do so.
